Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant's disclosure does not provide support for a rotary dial having the protrusions/depressions and ball guide groove on the stationary member. For the purpose of prior art rejections set forth below, "said stationary member" (claim 8, line 8 & claim 10, line 11) has been treated as --said rotary dial--.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5 and 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Slavin et al.

The claimed "stationary member" is met by body 27. The claimed "rotary dial" is met by the shaft 23 and the dial attached thereto. The claimed "ball guide groove" is met by slots 34. The claimed "ball" is met by balls 35. The claimed "undulated surface" ("protrusions" and "depressions") is met by the "outer peripheral surface" of detent disc 30. And the claimed "cylindrical resilient member" is met by spring 36.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6 and 7 are allowed.

Claims 2-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art does not disclose or suggest the cylindrical resilient member being "a coil spring" in combination with the remaining claim elements as set forth in claims 2 and 3.

The prior art does not disclose or suggest the protrusions and depressions being "formed on an inner periphery of a circumferential wall of said rotary dial" in combination with the remaining claim elements as set forth in claim 4.

The prior art does not disclose or suggest the protrusions and depressions being "formed on an inner periphery of said rotary dial" in combination with the remaining claim elements as set forth in claims 6 and 7.
